Mr. Allen Dulles
Director

Central Intelligence Agency
Washington, D.C.

Dear Mr. Dulles:

May I say that I admire you, sir, for your courage in the fight against communism. I imagine it must be exasperating when newspapers and newsmagazines come out with stories of Soviet economic successes while Congress takes $ 870,000,000 off of President Eisenhower's already short foreign aid budget. Why is it that these atrocities are not met by an angry people? Is it necessary that an H-bomb be dropped before the American people come to their senses?

Yours truly,
